for Smoke Detector Testing, Maintenance and Repair

Did you know that smoke detector sensors expire after 10 years? Do your detectors need to be replaced? Just because you replace the battery and the alarm beeps doesn't mean the smoke detecting sensor is operating. In fact, the National Fire Protection Agency NFPA recommends replacing your smoke detectors every 10 years. Journey Electric will test the sensors within your smoke detectors and replace any failed units or units that have expired. Additionally, we can update your fire detection system to new and better codes.
